

Online School

There is an illness going around called coronavirus. To stay safe from coronavirus, kids aren't going to their schools anymore. Instead, we are doing something called online school!

Online school means that I use my computer to learn at home. My teacher may give me assignments to complete. I may need to read, write, or do math at home. My parents will help me set up my online classes and make sure my teacher can see me and hear me.

When I am doing my online schoolwork, it's expected to keep my brain in the group and try my best to finish the assignment- just like I do in my classroom! If I need help, I can ask my teacher or a parent.

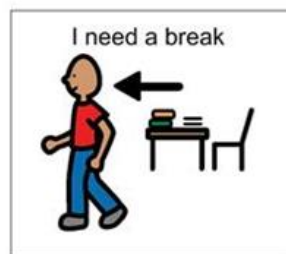

Online school might also mean that I video chat with my teacher and other kids in my class!

During a video chat, it will help me and my classmates if I have a calm body and keep my brain in the group. If I need help or need to ask a question, I can raise my hand and wait for my teacher to call on me. If I need to leave the desk, I can raise my hand and let my teacher know I am walking away.

Sometimes, I may feel frustrated when I'm doing online school. That's okay! I can ask for help or ask for a break.

Online school helps us keep safe and learn. I'm excited that I get to keep learning cool things at home!
